

CV: NIELS FREDERIK K. PETERSEN, 24

Profile

I am a newly educated clothing designer from the Danish Royal Academy's master program, with a focus sustainable design approaches and exploring and pushing the conventions of menswear design. I'm particularly concerned with technicality and thinking in new system of clothing design - like working with modularity or multifunctionality.

Person

I'm generally speaking a pretty nerdy person, with a wide range of hobbies including video-gaming, drawing & archery. I think I'm a pretty unconventional person but also extremely open-minded, and I try to view the world through a humoristic lens. I also enjoy spending time at slightly brown bodegas or hosting dinners for friends and family.

Experience

Outside the fashion industry I've mainly worked in factories as a temp worker or in retail, which has made me quite good at adapting to new work environments as well as social ones. I would also highlight my internship at Jan Machenhauer, where I was trained to have a sharp eye for detail and a high level of craftsmanship. Working in a smaller brand I'm also familiar with taking on multiple roles and adapting to new situations.
